

Global Engagement Academic Year Columbia-Led Programs

Earn Columbia credits through Columbia faculty-taught courses and administered programs

GERMAN

Berlin

Consortium for German Studies

ENGLISH

Begin or expand your study of the German language and explore your academic interests by enrolling in courses taught in German or English. Become fully immersed in Germany's culturally rich capital city while participating in an intensive academic program.

You may find yourself wishing you could extend your stay!

CASA in

Cuba

The CASA in Cuba is a collaborative initiative to provide students with the unique opportunity to cherish the Cuban history and culture by spending a semester in Havana.

Kyoto

Consortium for Japanese Studies

Develop your Japanese language skills and cultural knowledge by engaging in challenging coursework in Kyoto, a dynamic city rich in history and the arts that fosters collaboration and innovation.

Columbia in London

Study major works of English and Anglophone literature with a Columbia faculty member while pursuing a broad range of academic interests at Queen Mary University of London!

FRENCH

Columbia in

Paris

ENGLISH

Take one-of-a-kind courses, pursue individual research, and surround yourself in the French language and culture. Push yourself out of your comfort zone, expand your ways of thinking, and find your passion in the City of Light. Choose from the French Immersion or English Program and find yourself more confident in your role as a global citizen, capable of living beyond your national boundaries.

For more information about our Columbia-Led programs, please scan the QR code! Columbia-Led programs are study abroad opportunities run and directed by Columbia faculty and staff.